

Five Europeans recorded for every Tunisian

Community coded from institutional, educational and birthplace evidence in each entry (709 European, 144 Tunisian, 550 not classifiable of 1403) — a ratio of 4.9 to one among those it settles. Nobody is classified from a surname, and the 550 unclassified are not neutral: a Tunis birth with no communal marker is the commonest reason, and it withholds more Tunisians than Europeans.
