

Every route runs through Tunis

Places tied when at least one person is attached to both — by birth, residence or property. 507 places carry 542 ties, and the largest component holds 482. Edge width is the number of people on the route; the heaviest is Paris-Tunis with 30. The 10 places with the most connections are named. The star shape is the Protectorate's own geography: careers ran to the capital, not between the provinces.
