

The network sorts on the colonial line and on almost nothing else

Newman's nominal assortativity for six attributes on the co-membership network. The grey band is the middle of 2,000 relabellings of the same graph — the null the projection demands, since every clique it manufactured is present in the null too. Positionality reaches +0.314; birth cohort and holds any honour sit inside their own null. This is not a network in which similar people associate: two men of the same age, or holding the same number of decorations, are no more likely to share a committee than any two men in the volume.
